

Have you ever been to Paris?

Yes, I have.
I went last year,
with Maddy.

I've never skied before. This is terrifying!

Wow! I haven't seen that before. It's beautiful.
When did you get it?

This is the first time I've flown. It's so exciting!

Presentation

Use the present perfect to talk about your experiences – the things you've done, and haven't done, in your life.
Form the present perfect with have / has + past participle.

Past participle

With regular verbs, add -ed: ski → skied

Some verbs are irregular: see → seen, fly → flown

Affirmative and negative

I / You / We / They	've (have) haven't (have not)	visited	Paris.
He / She / It	's (has) hasn't (has not)

Questions

How many countries	have	I / you / we / they	visited?
	has	he / she / it
	Have	I / you / we / they	visited	Paris?
	Has	he / she / it

Short answers

Yes, I / you / we / they	have.	No, I / you / we / they	haven't.
Yes, he / she / it	has.	No, he / she / it	hasn't.

ever / never

You often use the present perfect with ever and never:

Have you ever driven a jeep? (ever = in your life)

I've never been to India. (never = not in my whole life)

You also use the present perfect with not / never ... before:

You use the present perfect and not the present simple with the first / second / third time.

Say This is the first time I've ridden a bike. (don't say This is the first time I ride a bike.)

Present perfect and past simple

Use the present perfect to talk about experiences in general. You do not say when it happened.

Have you been to Paris? (= at any time in your life)

You often use the past simple after present perfect questions to give information about specific events and times in the past.

Yes, I have. I went last year, with my friend Maddy.

been

When you are talking about experiences, you often use been as the past participle for go.

Say I've been to Paris three times. (don't say I've gone to Paris three times.)
